Eagle Ridge Landfill Hosts Fall Harvest Family Fun Fest

Pike County community invited to free food and fun

WHO: The Meridian Waste Eagle Ridge Landfill invites the Pike County community to visit the facility and enjoy the Eagle Ridge Landfill Fall Harvest Family Fun Fest on Saturday, October 16.

WHAT/WHY: Meridian Waste is holding the inaugural Eagle Ridge Landfill Fall Harvest Family Fun Fest to showcase the environmental facility and share the company's appreciation for the surrounding community. All neighbors, local schools, non-profits, and civic organization members are invited to attend to learn about landfills with a free BBQ lunch, lawn games, and kid-friendly activities.

"Fall is the perfect time to invite our neighbors to Eagle Ridge to enjoy the outdoors while learning something new. The Meridian Waste team of professionals believes in giving back to the community, and this is our newest effort to say thank you," said General Manager Roger Smith. "In addition, the landfill will be converting its methane gas into usable, clean energy when we break ground in late 2021 on our newest environmental initiative."

The free lunch will be catered by Bandana's BBQ. Activities include a bounce house, lawn games, a selfie photo area, and a Touch-A-Truck heavy machinery display. Giveaways will be offered to the first 100 children. There will also be a free raffle for a TV for adult attendees.

The Eagle Ridge Landfill provides a vital infrastructure asset to Pike County and the greater St. Louis marketplace by offering environmentally safe disposal. The landfill is one of the top revenue-producing properties in the County, with quarterly host fees and property taxes to benefit local citizens.
